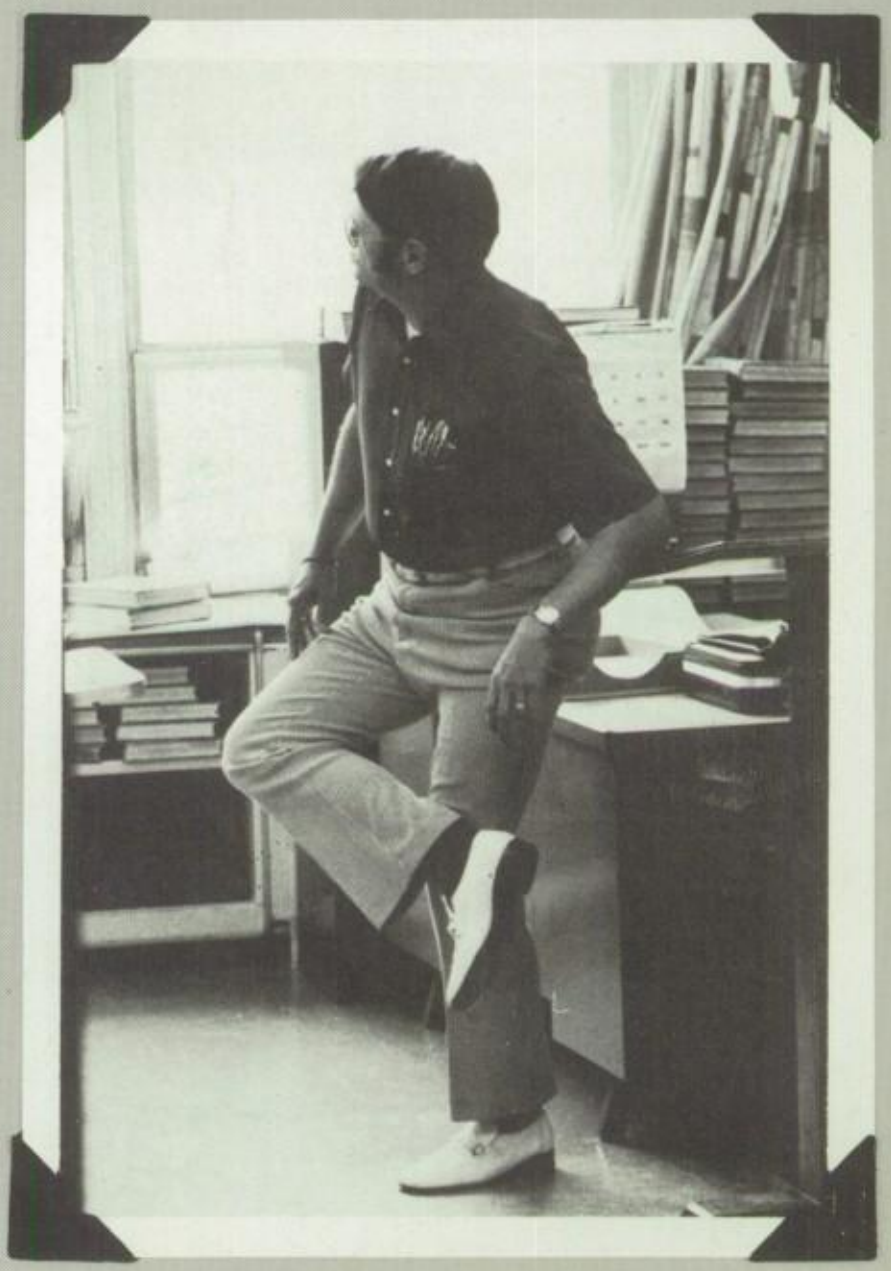
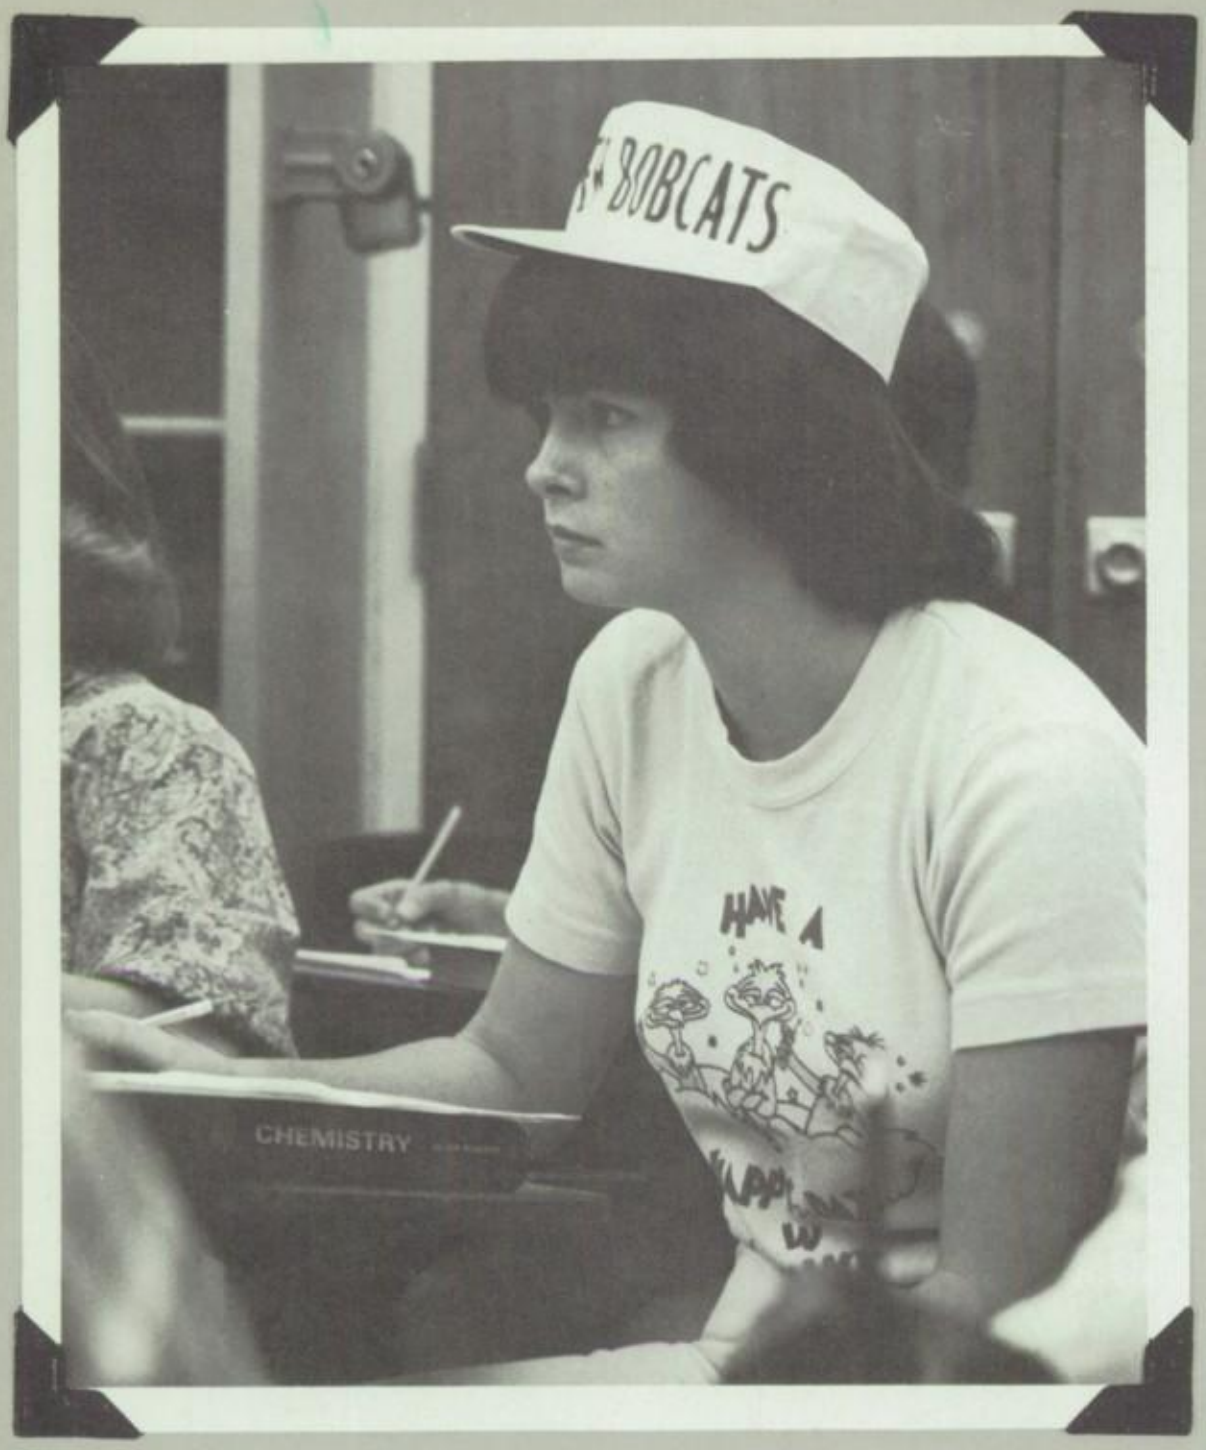
SHINGAS 1980

BEAVER AREA SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL, BEAVER, PENNSYLVANIA

→ [we] are all on a journey. Each of us is travelling through life: schooling, seasons, cars, children and grey hairs. (more familiar to us is the time spent in this school),.. but after school, what next?

[we] have discerned this feeling of perpetual motion. In the past we have dwelt on embarrassment and mischief, ruins and cravings. When we looked a little further, we could ask ourselves, "where is this leading?" →

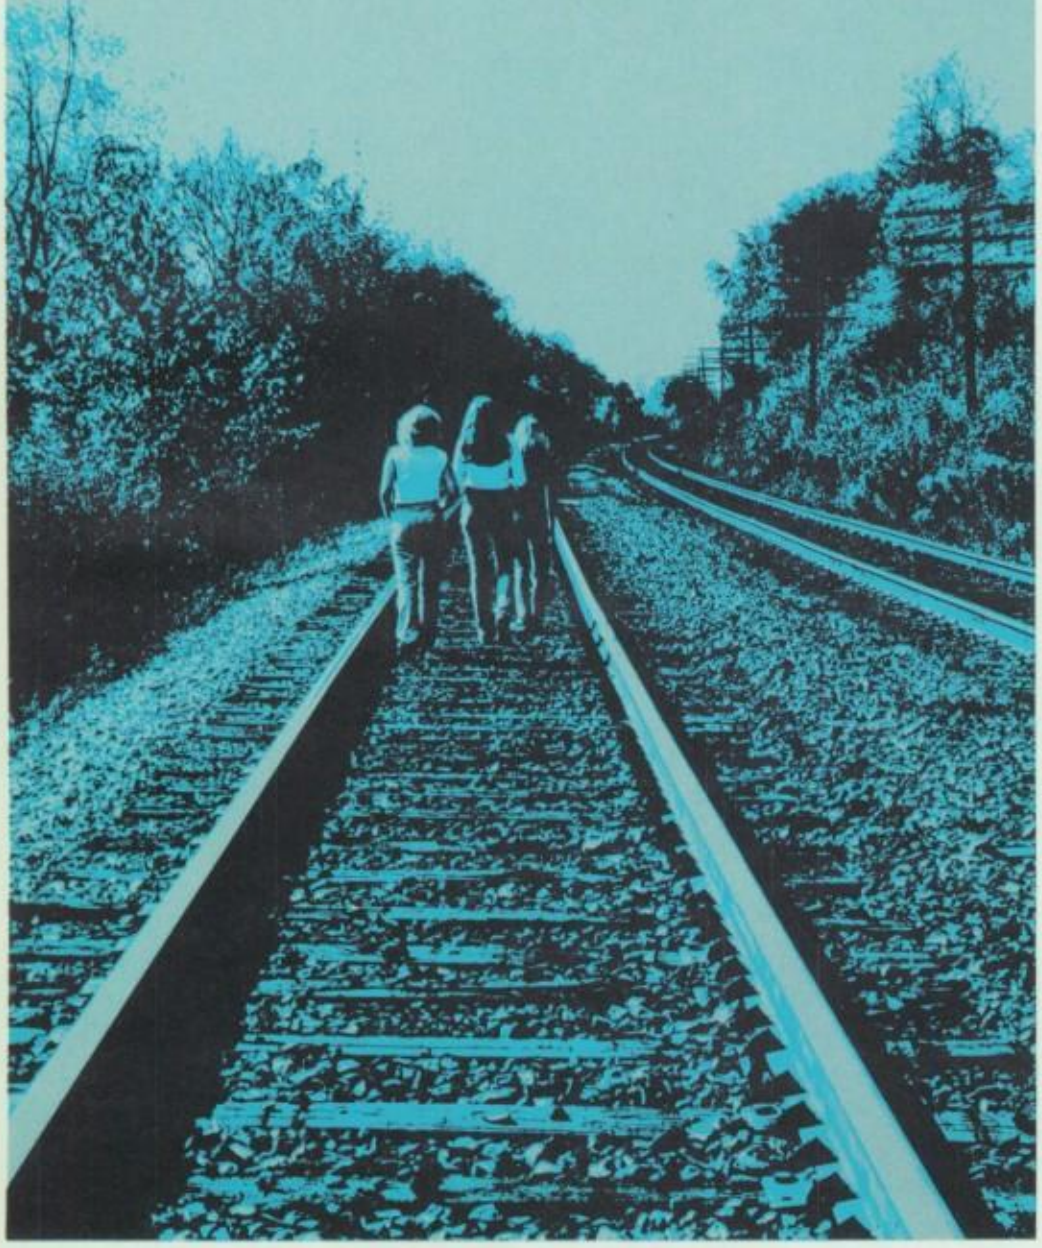




→ WE are all headed somewhere, and this constant motion is neither positive nor negative... movement is always justified. There are those who hate their path of travel while some are resentful and others are optimistic about their situations.

WE attempted neither to condemn nor praise, but to portray this year in pictures and words, as a journey we all participated in... with the hopes that in some later years it may be reflected upon in the midst of a different journey. →

Roads go ever ever on,
Over rock and under tree,
By caves where never sun has shone
By streams that never find the sea;
Over snow by winter sown,
And through the merry flowers of June,
Over grass and over stone,
And under mountains in the moon.



Roads go ever ever on,
Under cloud and under star,
Yet feet that wandering have gone Turn at last to home afar, Eyes that fire and sword have seen And horror in the halls of stone Look at last on meadows green And trees and hills they long have known.

The Road goes ever on and on Down from the door where it began.
Now far ahead the Road has gone,
And I must follow, if I can,
Pursuing it with eager feet,
Until it joins some larger way Where many paths and errands meet.
And whither then? I cannot say.

— J. R. R. Tolkien

Bob,

To a really sweet guy

Remember when i'd see you discoing at Infinity & picking up chicks. Well i'll probably still see you do that. remember how much fun biology was.
well, Good-luck

My preparation is done;
they say I am ready.
Yet a dark cloud through which I cannot see the road, looms above my mind's eye.

Eagerness
by the heat of preparation is curdled to sour anxiety;
And the heart's fire with a single glimpse of the task lies barely smoldering within.
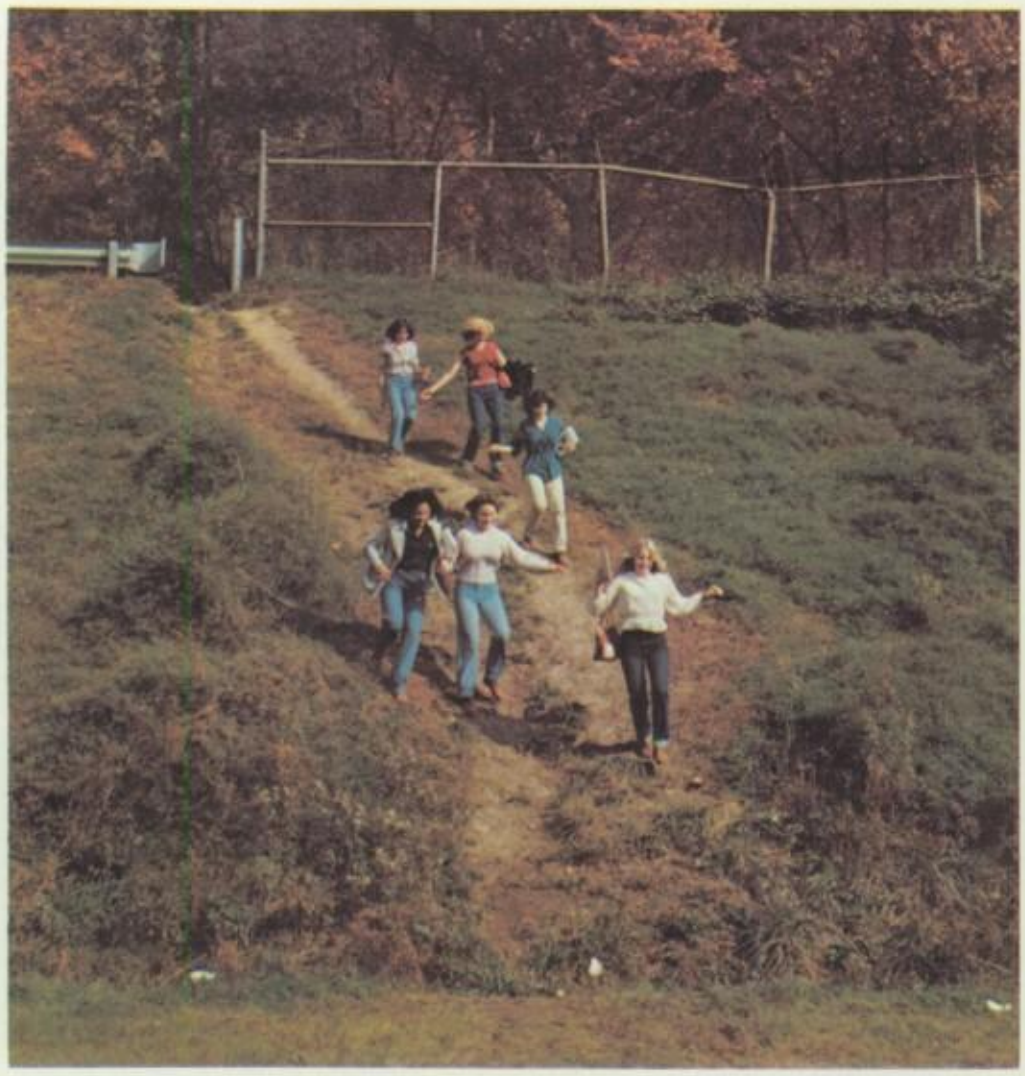
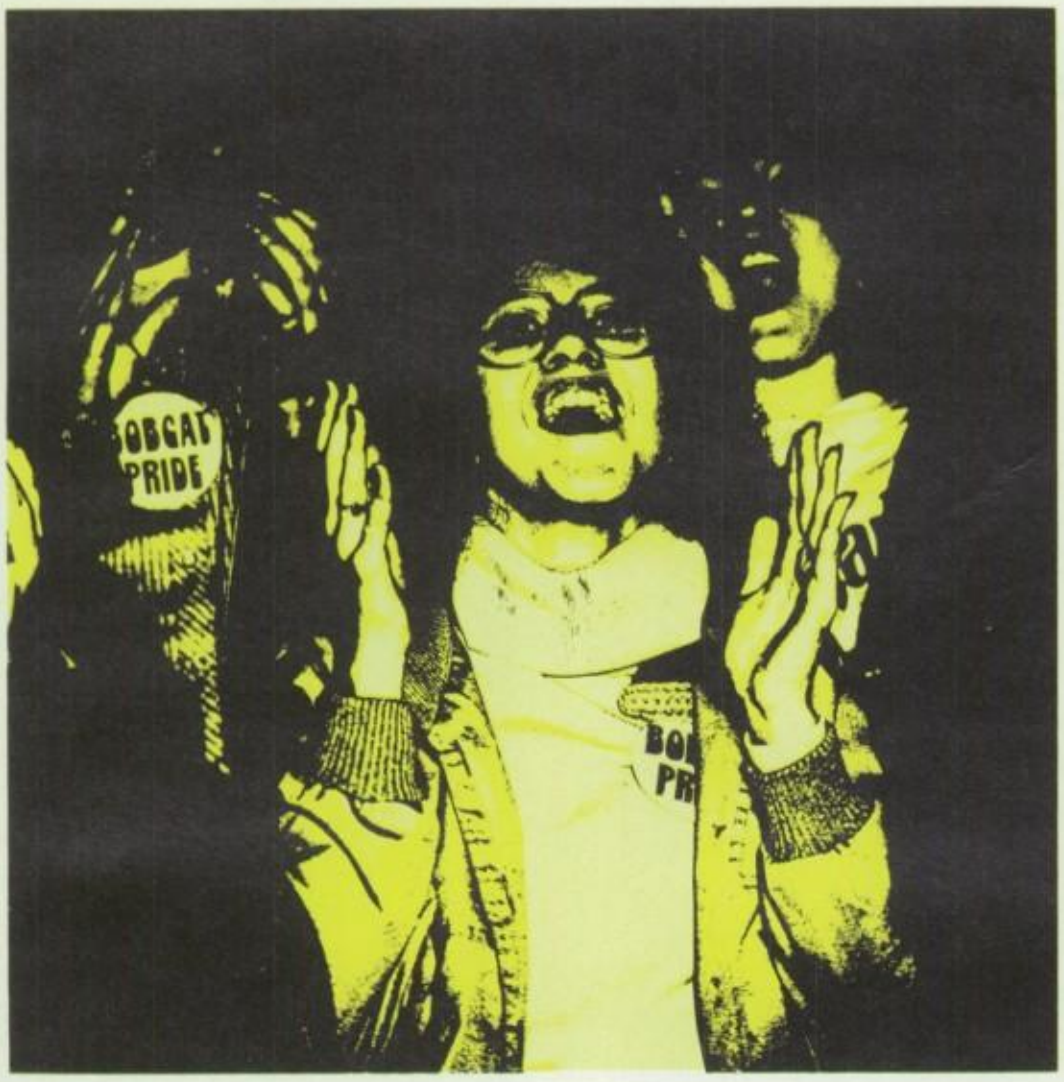
— D. McGonigle





High on this mountain
The clouds down below
I'm feeling so strong and alive
From this rocky perch I'll continue to search For the wind
And the snow
And the sky
I want a lover
I want some friends
And I want to live in the sun
And I want to do all the things that I never have done.

— Dan Fogelberg

Whether it's a win or loss that comes across as we go through our lives, the winner will win, the loser will lose, no matter how hard he strives.

But if you're the latter it does not matter you'll get over it.

Tapestry

My life has been a tapestry of rich and royal hue / An everlasting vision of the ever-changing views / A wondrous woven magic in bits of blue and gold / A tapestry to feel & see — impossible to hold // Once amid the soft & silver sadness in the sky / There came a man of fortune — a drifter passing by / He wore a torn and tattered cloth around his leathered hide / And a coat of many colors — yellow, green on either side // He moved with some uncertainty as if he didn't know / just what he was there for or where he ought to go / Once he reached for something golden hanging from a tree / And his hand came down empty // Soon within my tapestry, along the rutted road / He sat down on a river rock & turned into a toad / It seemed that he had fallen into someone's wicked spell / And I wept to see him suffer; though I didn't know him well. // As I watched in sorrow there suddenly appeared / A figure grey & ghostly beneath a flowing beard. / In times of deepest darkness I've seen him dressed in black. / Now my tapestry's unravelling; he's come to take me back. / He's come to take me back. // Carole King

Bonnie:

the beginning of the road saw the burning of the sun shining through the morning mist while tomorrow's hope still exist.
No one really understood the days that turned tonights the wrong derived from right; we drove our dreams out of sight.
we who took our lives into our own hands because no one would listen to our dreams collasped into society's black refuse.
Sometime's it's too late or so it seems;
we died on the day of eternity, gave up what we had for things they couldn't see, passed up all the signs on the highway.
They broke our wings, we never flew away.

They were hiding behind hay bales, they were planting in the full moon They had given all they had for something new But the light of day was on them, they could see the thrashers coming And the water shone like diamonds in the dew

And I was just getting up, hit the road before it's light Tryin' to catch an hour on the sun When I saw those thrashers rollin' by, lookin' more than two lanes wide I was feelin' like my day had just begun

Where the eagle glides ascending there's an ancient river bending Down the timeless gorge of changes where sleeplessness awaits I searched out my campanions, they were lost in crystal canyons
When the aimless blade of science slashed the pearly gates
It was then I knew I'd had enough, burned my credit card for fuel Headed out to where the pavement turns to sand With a one-way ticket to the land of truth and my suitcase in my hand How I lost my frields I still don't understand

To the Illustrious Shingas Staff:
I have the utmost respect for the Shingas however, my name, which I'll admit is a little tough to spell, appeared in last years Shingas 9 times, or those 9 times it was misspelled 9 times. I realize that there are over 200 people at and names must be a great stumbling block for such a fantastic publication as the Shingas, but I would most humbly request that this year's staff pay closer attention to proofreading. A yearbook should be treasured, and names which are misspelled make one want to bury the treasure.

BRAD'S A BABY!
"Oooo! Shawn Cassidy!!" -Molly
"But Amy likes to type." -Brad Keith is a wiener.
Stacie sure has a lot of relatives.
George is finally here! Yea!
Boojums must have been in the Scout again; there are hoof prints on this seat.
"Deadline?? What deadline?" -Chuck Keith had to stay after play practice again.
Tell us a story, Molly!
Sunday Afternoon Punk Rock, Featuring "Chuck Townsend and the Helmets."
"That's so avant-garde." -Mary Whatever happened to Susi W?
Where did you learn that truck-driver language, Chuck?

Where's Mary?
Boy, were the senior editors generous with Christmas presents this year!
Stacie drove her big-car-low-to-the-ground today.
"Why does Brad always get the front seat?" -Keith Amy, show us what you got for Christmas.
How are the ads coming, Amy?
"What's a cropper? Oh, was that what I just stepped on?" -Molly
"I don't know, but we've only got one of them."
Who does Natalie think she is anyway, Joni Mitchell?
Hey Amy, we're hungry, make some food.
Aw, come on, everybody knows the janitors love us.
Where is Mary?
Have you got yours?
Oh no, Amy Wang is spazzing out again!!

Travel or passage from one place to another.
journey-tour, trip, often suggests prolonged travel especially to a particular destination, or for a specific object passage or progress from one stage to another.
Tour implies a circuitous course from place to place, especially for pleasure. A trip is journeys (-niz). [journee a day, a day's work or travel]. Travel or passage one place to another

Joy at the start
Fear in the journey
Joy in the coming home
A part of the heart
Got lost in the learning
Somewhere along the road

Along the road
Your path may wander
A pilgrim's faith may fail Absence makes the heart grow fonder Darkness obscures the trail

Cursing the quest Courting disaster
Measureless nights forbode Moments of rest
Glimpses of laughter
Are treasured along the road

Along the road
Your steps may stumble Your thoughts may start to stray
But through it all a heart held humble Levels and lights your way.

Joy at the start
Fear in the journey
Joy in the coming home
A part of the heart
Is lost in the learning
Somewhere along the road
Somewhere along the road
Somewhere along the road

— D. Fogelberg
